

Harbor View Presbyterian Church Weekly Newsletter

While at the gym recently, a man I hadn't met previously and I, started a conversation. Not long into our conversation he questioned if I read the Bible. I said "Yes" and held back a little until the question came as to what my occupation is.

We then had a nice conversation about what churches we attended and if we had any mutual connections.

It was refreshing to hear someone speak openly about sharing the Bible and their religion in a brief encounter.

It reminded me of the story when Jesus calls the first disciples. What was it that made them drop everything and follow Jesus?

Relationships are so important. When we get together it usually comes up at some point... How is so and so...Have you heard about...My kids are doing...Our grandchildren have just...

It is how we stay connected with friends and family. We all have different talents and personalities, which is how we can make it through this life together.

Jesus chose these disciples not to just learn His doctrine, but to be with Him because He was delighted with them.

John 13:34, "Love one another as I have loved you, so you must love one another."

Peace and Blessings until we meet again.

Dear friends,

I have enjoyed making flower arrangements for the church for the last 5 years or so.

Thank you for the privilege to serve God through bringing a little beauty to our sanctuary on Sundays. It is now time to refresh and to make new silk arrangements by the capable hands of Pam Shuler and other "flower ladies." Please continue to support these efforts by supplying the materials and new silk flowers so that we can continue to glorify God's blessings to our church.

Donations of any amount to the "flower fund" already in existence would be greatly appreciated.
